

Read this, and then Kindly Follow Instructions.

We are in position at the present writing to do the shoe buyer of Rhinelander more good in shoe buying than any other dealer here.

The reasons are obvious. In Women's and Children's Shoes we have in stock today three pairs, to any other dealer (in the city) one pair. We have an exclusive shoe man. There is not another in town. We have had 35 years experience in buying shoes. This should count for something.

If there is any doubt in your mind about this statement, you can see for yourself. Our trade has doubled, that tells the story. We have just opened a beautiful line of Buttoned Shoes in new lasts and a beautiful line of patent Oxfords. Come and see them.

WATER WON'T HURT THEM

It can't penetrate or injure our shoes any more than it can the duck's downy covering.

Substantial Footwear

Footwear that lasts well, keeps its shape and always looks trim and stylish—that's the kind you get here. And the price? Why, bless you, it's actually lower than that usually charged for "cheap" footwear.

LOW RATES TO THE EAST.

The Wabash Railroad is selling one-way tickets from Chicago to New York, Boston, Montreal and many other eastern cities at greatly reduced rates. For full details, write F. H. Tristram, Assistant General Passenger Agent, 97 Adams street, Chicago; or Thos. P. Scott, Gen. Agent, 114 Wisconsin street, Milwaukee, Wis.

MAY EXTEND LINE HERE.

Some weeks ago a number of citizens, notably among them Mayor Stapleton, sent a petition to the Green Bay, Oshkosh, Madison and Southwestern Railroad Company, that is now building a line to the copper country, asking the company to change its original plan of route and pass through Rhinelander instead of east of here. The following letter has been received by Mr. Stapleton from C. H. Hartley, the general manager of the line:

MR. MAYOR STAPLETON,
Rhinelander, Wis.
My dear Mr. Stapleton:

We have your letter dated February 23d received in this morning's mail, and assume that delay thereto has been occasioned by obtaining signatures to same.

We wish that you would say to all parties appearing on this that the writer has always had a most kindly interest in the City of Rhinelander and believes that it has a future.

To diverge from our present line in the direction of Rhinelander and then turn to the northeast would be objectionable for a through line, which we expect to make of our enterprise. There is not, however, any objection we can see to following your suggestion with a branch line, extending beyond Rhinelander and as has been the case in many instances, the branch line may soon become as important as the main line.

A little later on we shall be very glad indeed to devote our attention to something of this kind, and in the meantime, we are,

Yours respectfully,

C. H. HARTLEY

DELINQUENT TAX LIST

State of Wisconsin, County of Oneida—ss.
Notice is hereby given that on the 12th day of April, 1906, the 12th day of May, A. ## THE NEW NORTH.

FAIR & COMPANY, Publishers
C. H. PARK, Editor and Manager

A man never knows just how others esteem him until the day after election when he has been a candidate.

But old John Alexander Dowling has had a hard time of it. He is threatened with prosecution for immoral practices. Well, his co-operative schemes have held together longer than similar partnerships. That is about the only solace the old man has. If he should regain possession, the calamity of collapse will not be averted. It will only be prolonged.

Senator Lodge's defense of the senate of the United States, (the so-called greatest legislative body in the world) was timely and necessary to try to restore the confidence of the people, who take very little stock in Platt, Depew, Aldrich, et al., the senators who represent corporations only, and let the people look out for themselves. Is it a wonder that socialism thrives when we think of such senators?

THE PRICE OF LABOR.

The price of all goods has advanced more than thirty per cent in the last seven years. Mechanical labor has nearly kept pace, but the wages of common labor has not kept up, unless we except farm hands. That kind of labor has advanced with goods, but ordinary labor, such as digging ditches, working on streets, etc., should be advanced. That may not be the case in all places, but in many cities ordinary labor is not high enough when we consider that the laborer pays at least thirty per cent more for many necessities of life than he did in 1899.

THE PRIMARY ELECTION.

The primary election has been condemned by those politicians who have manipulated caucuses and conventions as they chose to for many years. But the average voter, the man who wishes the people's will to triumph, no complaints have been made. Some say it costs too much, etc., but all good things come high.

In the late election it overthrew the Democratic machine in Milwaukee, defeating a machine that has carried matters with a high hand for many years.

In this result alone it was worth many times the cost, as all good citizens know.

If the convention system had prevailed in Milwaukee, the Democratic city convention would not have adjourned until the Polish voters were represented by a candidate on the ticket. But the primary election left every Polish candidate out of the race. And the vote of that nationality took sure vengeance on the Democrats by voting for Becker and other candidates on the Republican ticket.

Thus the primary did the work, and is entitled to great credit in destroying the Democratic machine.

GOOD FELLOW, NOW.

Many stalwart papers give a dash of encouragement to S. M. Becker, Mayor-elect of Milwaukee, saying he made a good fight etc., but in reality they are extremely sorry Mr. Becker succeeded.

The stalwart dailies are corporatists of the worst kind and did all they could to elect Rose. They failed and now one by one are getting on the wagon, to square themselves with their patrons throughout the state. But Mr. Becker understands them and takes their smooth assertions for just what they are worth.

ALL THE WAY FROM OSHKOSH.

The Milwaukee Free Press interprets the election of Becker as an endorsement of the course of District Attorney McGovern. The conclusion, however, seems rather far-fetched—Oshkosh Northwestern.

Yes, fetched all the way from Oshkosh. The Free Press has not interpreted the result of the election as having any relation to Mr. McGovern, nor has it connected his name with the result, until now. Yet, as the Northwestern suggests it, the election was something of an endorsement of McGovern, in this way, and to this degree, that the Rose campaign was run largely on an anti-McGovern basis. Rose assailed the district attorney in about every speech he made, and his helpers on the stump did the same, while the Sentinel never lost a vote from the day of the primary election to the election last Tuesday. In its efforts to make McGovern an issue in the campaign. Had Rose been elected it would have claimed that McGovern had been repudiated. So come to look at it fairly, we think that the election of Becker may fairly be construed as a sort of endorsement of everybody and everything that was for good government and opposed to graft.

In the same issue of the Northwestern we find this:

The Milwaukee Free Press very modestly claims the great portion of the credit for the result of the recent election in that city. There is nothing like blowing your own horn when you are close by undertake it.

The Free Press has made no claim to any portion of the result of the election for the result of the election, nor mentioned itself in connection with that result. It has been credited by its friends, and some of its enemies, with having been on the side that won.

When the "doctor" went to Chile, to be gone four years, did he leave no instructions in the office of the Northwestern about trying?—Milwaukee Free Press.

The Free Press is entitled to great credit for the result, as every reader knows, whether he claims it or not. The course of the paper was straight forward, honest and fearless. It stood for the courts, for the grand jury, for McGovern, as well as for Mr. Becker. All were issues in the campaign. The corporate candidate, Mr. Rose, made them issues. And the wonder is that Mr. Rose, on such issues, pulled as many votes as he did.

NOTICE FOR BIDS.

Notice is hereby given that sealed proposals will be received by the Board of Public Works of the City of Rhinelander up to the hour of 2 p. m. April 20th, 1906, for the laying of a 4 inch water main on Kemp street from Barr street to Keweenaw street.

EX-MAYOR CRUMBO RECOMMENDS PE-RU-NA.

"My endorsement of Pe-Ru-na is based on its merits."

—Id. Crumbo.

PE-RU-NA, Ex-Mayor of New York City, writes from 511 E. Oak street:

"My endorsement of Pe-Ru-na is based on its merits."

"If a man is sick he looks anxiously for something which will cure him, and Pe-Ru-na will do the work."

"I know that it will cure catarrh of the head or stomach, indigestion, headache and any weary or sick feeling."

"It is bound to help anyone, if used according to directions."

"I also know dozens of men who speak in the highest terms of Pe-Ru-na and have yet to hear of anyone being disappointed in it."

Mr. Crumbo, in a later letter, dated Aug. 25, 1904, says:

"My health is great at present, but if I should have to take any more medicine I will fall back on Pe-Ru-na."

CHURCH CELEBRITIES.

A lecture of carved wood is to be placed in the new All Saints' church, Appleton, as a memorial to Amos Adams Lawrence, of Boston, founder of Lawrence university, in Appleton, Wis.

Ex-Representative H. Kirk Porter, who represented Pittsburg in the last congress, will make a tour of the world to raise $1,000,000 for Baptist missions. This money will be used to endow schools in foreign lands.

Rev. P. Bonvin, S. J., the eminent musician of Canisius college, Buffalo, has written a new mass, the manuscript of which was submitted to Rome for approval, and at once received the imprimatur of the committee of cardinals having the matter in charge.

Rev. Dr. William S. Ralston, widely known as the "atrocious parson," who has been successful in building up a large institutional church work in New York, has resigned the rectorship of St. George's Episcopal church, in Stuyvesant square, on the ground of ill health.

Rev. Robert Harley is the only Congregational minister who is a member of that famous London club, the Athenaeum, and he is also a P. R. S. It is curious to reflect that whereas he has made a world wide reputation as a mathematician he showed but little aptitude for mathematics as a boy, and was 14 before he really knew his multiplication table.

SCRAPS OF SCIENCE.

The fiftieth anniversary of the invention of the aniline dye is to be celebrated by the world of science by the placing of a portrait of the inventor, Dr. Perkins, in the National Portrait gallery, and a bust in the rooms of the Chemical society at Burlington House, London.

Gas is the fundamental basis of the sense of smell, says Dr. John Aitken, F. R. S., according to the Scientific American. Berthelot says that one hundredth of a quadrillionth of a gram of musk can be detected by the nose. Dr. Aitken has found that of 24 odorous substances investigated not one gave off its perfume in solid particles; nothing but gases and vapors escaped from any of them.

Two distinct organizations, both composed of men eminent in science, are studying the sun with extraordinary care. One, the Solar Commission, established in 1902, is devoting its researches to the effect of the sun on the weather and climatic changes of the earth. The other, the Solar Union, formed in 1904, is endeavoring to ascertain more than is now known about the sun itself. Both are European associations.

OVER THE OCEAN.

A new prize of $10,000 is offered in France for the invention of a dirigible balloon.

Sir Patrick Keith Murray has presented to the British nation an old cushion on which the crown of Scotland rested, and it has been placed in the jewel room at Edinburgh castle.

The Uffizi gallery, Florence, has acquired a collection of 11,000 portraits, etchings, engravings and copper plates, representing celebrated historical personages, monarchs, popes and artists.

The Show Does Poor Business in the South—Pa Side Tracks a Circus Car Filled with Creditors—A Performance Given "for the Poor," Fills the Treasury—A Wild West Man Buncoes the Show.

Gee, but this show has been up against it the last week. We haven't made a paying stand anywhere. The show business is all right when you have to turn people away, or let them in on standing room. Then you can snap your fingers at fate, and drink foolish water out of four-dollar bottles of fiz that has the cork trained so it will pop out clear to the top of the tent, and make a noise that makes you think you own the earth, but turn in, and she let him go to his berth, and he got out on the platform, and just then the second section of our train came along, and stopped for water, and pa crawled into an animal car and laid down in the straw with the sacred cow. She bellowed all night cause the sacred bull, her husband, had been attached for debt at Vicksburg, but when pa got in the car in his shirt sleeves and humped his shoulders up on account of the cold, the cow thought may be she had been unnecessarily alarmed, and may be pa was her husband.

So she quit bellowing, and laid down and chewed her cud till daylight. Then when she saw that pa was another person she got mad and chased him up into the rafters of the car, and he had to ride there until the train got to Memphis. The hands rescued pa, but he got away from the creditors all right.

We made a new lot of creditors at Memphis, and they proposed to go along with us, but we shook them off. Gee, but we made a killing in Memphis, and don't you forget it. We had handbills on all the wagons in the parade, telling the people that the proceeds of the afternoon and evening performance would be given to deserving persons, in charity, and the intention was to use the money to pay out the hands. My, but the people turned out. The tents were all full, and we had more money than we have had in a month before, and after the performance at night the mayor and some prominent citizens waited on the management and asked when and where we were going to distribute the money to the deserving persons.

The managers appointed pa to stand off the committee. Pa said he had no need, in walking about the city, a beautiful park in the center of the town, and he told the committee that his idea was to have the deserving people gather at the park the next morning, which was Sunday, and wait there until the managers of the show could count the money, and prepare to distribute it, honestly and impartially, with the advice of the local committee. That seemed all right, and the committee notified the citizens to meet in the park at nine o'clock the next morning, and receive the money the citizens had so kindly contributed to such a noble cause, and they went away.

Our show has got out of a good many tight places, but we never got out of a town so quietly and unostentatiously as we got out of Memphis during that early Sunday morning. There was not noise enough made getting our stuff to the train to wake up a policeman, and before daylight the different sections of the train had crossed the big bridge into Arkansas, and were on the way to the Indian Territory. Pa and the other managers were on the platform of the last car of the last section, as it pulled out when you strike the southern country where the white men have not sold their cotton and the negroes have not been paid for picking it, the audience looks like a political caucus in an open air, when there is nobody with money enough to stimulate the voters.

When the audience are small, and half the people in attendance get in on billsticker's passes, and you can't pay the help regularly, but have to stand them off with promises, you are liable to have a strike any minute. The people you owe for hotel bills and horse feed, and supplies, follow you from one town to another, threatening to attach the ticket wagon and levy on the animals. It takes diplomacy and unadorned gall to run a show.

We are playing now to get back into the northern states, but we have to leave an animal of some kind in the hands of a sheriff every day, which has been all right so far, cause we have steered the sheriffs on to elephants that have ears so they are no good except to eat, one rebrta that was made up by a painter, who painted stripes on a white mule, and one lion that was so old he will never sell at forced sale for enough to pay for the beef tea the sheriff will have to feed him.

When creditors in a town get too mad and threaten to attach things, we invite them to get along with us for a few days, and get their money when we strike a paying stand, and we agree to furnish them a Pullman car

RHEUMATISM CURED

The Disease Yielded Readily to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills After Other Treatment Failed.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure rheumatism because they supply the necessary elements to the vitiated blood and enable nature to cast out the impurities and effect a cure. Mrs. A. Baker of No. 119 Fifth street, Syracuse, N. Y., will furnish living evidence of the truth of this statement. "There has been rheumatism in my family ever since I can remember," she says. "My grandmother was a great sufferer from muscular rheumatism and my mother also had the disease in a mild form. About a year ago I had a hard cold and rheumatism came on in my left knee. There were sharp pains, and the knee would not go right into the bone. The pain in the knee was intense and I also had dizzy spells. The doctors called my trouble uric acid and sciatic rheumatism. When I didn't get better under their treatment, brother-in-law suggested that I try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I bought three boxes, and by the time I had taken them, the pain and dizziness had entirely left me. I wanted to make sure of a cure so I bought three more boxes, but I didn't take quite all of them as I found that I was entirely cured. I never took the pills the pain was so severe that I had to cry at times and when I was cured I was so thankful and grateful and I am glad to recommend them to every one who suffers with rheumatism."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have cured severe cases of anemia, sciatica, nervousness, neuralgia, indigestion, locomotor ataxia and St. Vitus' dance. They have not responded to other modes of treatment. All druggists sell Dr. Williams' Pink Pills or they will be sent by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box, six boxes for $2.50, by Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

LEARNED OF LITERATURE.

Robert Harbrough Sherard, author of "Twenty Years in Paris," tells that Guy de Maupassant despised literature as a profession, and gave to almost any other topic of conversation the preference over books.

Fanny T. Cory, one of the foremost American illustrators of child life, lives near Helena, Mont., and she describes her home as "just a little yellow and white dot on the shore of a big open lake, where a few water fowl and the postman twice a week are about the only visitors."

St. Theodore Martin is 90 years old, but is nevertheless able to bring out a book entitled "Monographs." It will contain biographical sketches of Garibaldi, Mazzini, Rabelais and Baron Stockmar. The sketches are based on articles published in periodicals many years ago.

Marion Crawford, Count Soderlin and Pope Clement XI, on a life of Pope Leo XIII, to fill four volumes. They possess a great many unpublished documents which Leo himself gave to Count Soderlin for this purpose. It is said that the work will put an altogether different face on the relation of the last two popes to the question of Italian unity.

Thomas Hardy, the novelist, recluse and genius, lives on the outskirts of Dorchester in a red brick house surrounded by tall trees that hide his house from the curious. He dresses as simply and independently of fashion as most men of genius have done from the beginning of history. His pet aversion is the wearing of an overcoat and when the weather begins to be cold he puts on a waistcoat made of sheepskin in the old-fashioned country style.

THE MISSIONARY FIELD.

Missionaries are at work in 247 of the walled cities of China. There are still 1,500 walled cities without missionaries.

The Jesuit fathers in charge of the Shanghai Catholic mission, in their recent annual report, announce an increase of 6,275 converts received during the year 1905 into the church.

The year 1905 in the Presbyterian mission in Canton, China, was the best in its history. To the 20 churches there were 1,035 additions, and the local contributions amounted to $3,001.

The South Carolina conference is said to raise more money for the Freedmen's Aid and Southern Education society than any conference in Methodism with the exception of Rock River.

Methodists of this country have undertaken the task of raising $250,000 for an Indian jubilee fund. Bishop Thoburn is chairman of the committee on the fund, and will go to India to take part in the celebration.

DECAYED STARCH.

A Food Problem.

An Asheville man tells how right food did that which medicines had failed to accomplish: "For more than 15 years," he says, "I was afflicted with stomach trouble and intestinal indigestion, gas forming in stomach and bowels and giving me great distress. These conditions were undoubtedly due to the starch food I ate, white bread, potatoes, etc., and didn't digest. I got worse with time, till, 2 years ago, I had an attack which the doctor diagnosed as appendicitis. When the surgeon operated on me, however, it was found that my trouble was ulcer of the pancreas, instead of appendicitis."

"Since that time I have had several such attacks, suffering death, almost. The last attack was about 3 months ago, and I endured untold agonies. The doctor then said that I would have to eat less starch stuff, so I began the use of Grape-Nuts food, for I knew it to be pre-digested, and have continued same with most gratifying results. It has built me up wonderfully. I gained 10 pounds in the first 3 weeks that I used Grape-Nuts, my general health is better than ever before, my brain is clearer and my nerves stronger."

"For breakfast and dinner, each, I take 4 teaspoonsful of Grape-Nuts with cream, a small slice of dry toast, an egg soft boiled and a cup of Postum; and I take the evening meal of Grape-Nuts and cream alone—this gives me a good night's rest and I am well again. Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich."

The blooming flowers are the products of the seed cast into the soil a few months ago. The vital energy was in the seed; the flower could not be produced but by the dissolution of the seed. You plant an un-sprouted seed in the soil, and up comes the beautiful lily. No philosopher can describe the process. And how precious is the thought that we shall rise from the dead; that the eyes of our loved ones that with trembling fingers we closed will open with luster on the resurrection morn; that the arms we folded in death will join ours in the embrace of reunion.

This is the Easter hope. This is the power of Christ's resurrection. We have followed our loved ones to the grave and left them there where the winter's snow has swept over our hearts and whelmed us almost in despair, but through Christ's resurrection—who rolled away the stone from the tomb of human hope and painted upon the black cloud of death the rainbow of immortality—we can almost feel our friends in our arms; they seem to be with us now. We shall meet and know and love each other again.

By REV. SAMUEL FALLOWS, D.D.
Bishop St. Paul's Episcopal Church.

No more solemn and triumphant witness could be given of any fact than that of the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead. The men who had doubted and despaired saw him, heard him, touched him, walked with him, talked with him, and were commissioned by him to proclaim his truth. The colossal structure of the Christian church rests upon the incontrovertible fact. Men do not build on bubbles or on chimeras. Neither of collusion, delusion, or illusion can the apostles be convicted. They were neither deceivers nor deceived. They were contradicted, but never refuted; persecuted, but never silenced. They varied as honest, earnest men with marked individuality will vary in telling their marvelous story, but they never departed by the breadth of a hair from the assertion of the supreme fact itself. The resurrection is the potency and promise of the ultimate victory of right over wrong, of truth over error, of love over hate. Hail then this day of gladness!

By RT. REV. C. P. ANDERSON, D.D.
Episcopal Bishop of Chicago.

"Christ our Passover is sacrificed for us; therefore let us keep the feast." This Easter anthem is as old as Christianity. It is the theme in all our churches to-day. From the outset Christian people have pressed together on this day to commemorate the resurrection of Him who brought life and immortality to light. A stupendous great had taken place that made it plain "within the precincts of this visible world, that a world unseen and eternal, had most real, awaits us hereafter." The belief in immortality did not originate with Easter. Various ethnic religions supply testimony to the fact that the idea of immortality of some sort has always found a lodgment in man's intellect and conscience.

Pastor Woodland Ave. Baptist Church, Detroit.

The Easter spirit is the spirit of Jesus Christ in the heart of man, seeking the triumph of right over wrong, in the world and in ourselves; the mastery of the flesh by the soul; the control of life by reason and conscience; the uplifting of our thoughts upon the spiritual realm; seeking the victory of Love over Hate, of forgiveness over revenge, of patience over impatience; and seeking to make virtue so often, and so welcome, a guest that vice will move away forever. The world will be full of folly this coming week; a folly that is an irreverence to the Easter spirit, and a dishonor to Christ. For the Easter spirit is the spirit of Jesus Christ in the heart of man.

In one of his letters Columbus speaks about an undiscovered continent. The new world was out of sight, but for him it was a real world. So he turned his little ship toward the setting sun. Day after day Columbus sailed steadily on. His sailors were full of terror; again and again they muttered. For many days Columbus concealed the real distance he had sailed. At last he saw a golden bough floating in the waters. On that bough rested a cardinal bird, with wings tired through the long flight. In that hour Columbus smiled and his heart sang for joy. With instant vision he leaped from the bough to the great forest; from the single bird to flocks of sweet songsters. Just behind the red clouds and the setting sun was that "undiscovered country." And so he sailed on, the long night through, knowing that when the day dawned and the shadows fled away he would behold the new world. All know the result; that is history. For the explorer, the bird of hope and that golden bough told no lies. They were the forerunners of this splendid continent and this great republic, with its laws and liberties. And not otherwise is it with the deep longings of the heart. At home your wife or child is ill. In the night you awaken full of fear. And then a great, sweet hope springs up. The child shall not return to you, but you shall go to him. Suddenly he is a bird. It tells you of the undiscovered country of Shakespeare; of the happy hills of Paradise. For as Columbus found for us America, Christ discovered the city of God.

Can we picture the condition of mankind, if every benevolent work which has had its origin in Christianity had never been dreamed of, and if every influence created by the church had never been so much as imagined? But the church itself finds its vital spring of being in the Easter fact. What would have become of intelligence and education but for Christianity, which has its root in the resurrection of Jesus Christ, when the Tartar and the Hun, the Vandal and the Visigoth swept over the wreck of the Roman empire and the ruins of Roman civilization? Subtract from art all that it has produced under the stimulus of the religion which centers in the fact we have left only what survived in ancient Greece—possibly in Egypt—and even these would not have been preserved but for the love of art inspired by Christianity. More than all, the morality created by teachings such as the sermon on the mount would have perished but for the resurrection.

"He is risen, He is not here," therefore do all Christians exult to-day. In vain would have been Christ's miracles, sermons, sufferings, and death on the cross if He did not fulfill His prophecy, "After three days I will rise again." Christ made His resurrection the final test of His divinity, and when on the third day, despite the machinations of His enemies, He rose victorious, as the conqueror of death, He left to pastor and to people a legitimate cause for permanent rejoicing. St. Paul teaches this when he says: "If Christ be not risen again, then our preaching is vain, and your faith is also vain." The resurrection of Christ assures us that we have been redeemed by the power of His blood, and the angelic tidings, "He is not here," gives us firmest hope of our own resurrection and life with Christ beyond the grave, for Christ Himself said: "Father, I will that where I am they also whom Thou hast given Me, may be with Me."

A LIVING DEATH.

Vividly Described by a Citizen of Sioux Falls, South Dakota.

Andrew Johnson, 411 West Twelfth St., Sioux Falls, S. D., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills saved my life. My doctor, from a careful analysis of the urine and a diagnosis of my case, had told me I could not live six weeks. I was struck down in the street with kidney trouble, and for a whole year could not leave the house. I lost flesh, my eyes failed me, I bloated at times, my back hurt and I suffered living death. There seemed no hope until I began using Doan's Kidney Pills. Then I began to improve. The pain left gradually, the swellings subsided, I gained appetite and weight, and, to make a long story short, I got well." Sold by all dealers. 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

AN UNLUCKY THIRTEEN.

They Were All Creditors and Not One Ever Got a Cent Due Them.

"Did you ever sit down at a table where there were just 13?" asked a man of his companion in a railway carriage. "Never," replied the latter. "Why, you never observed that any bad luck followed did you?" "Well, yes. Bad luck for most of the 13."

"Any of them die?" "Not that I know of. Never heard of any of them dying." "Not enough victims to go round?" queried the other. "Who's talking about victims? There wasn't any victims." "Thought you said you sat down to a table where there were 13 persons." "That's what I said. The table was in a railway carriage. It was a meeting of my creditors. There were 13 of them. I was the other man." There was a long pause, and then the first speaker inquired: "In what way was the meeting prove unlucky, may I ask?" "None of them ever got a cent from me," answered the other, heaving a deep sigh as he left the carriage.

SAVED BABY LYON'S LIFE.

Awful Slight from That Dreadful Complaint, Infantile Eczema—Mother Praises Cuticura Remedies.

"Our baby had that dreadful complaint, Infantile Eczema, which afflicted him for several months, commencing at the top of his head, and at last covering his whole body. His sufferings were untold and constant misery, in fact, there was nothing we could do but to have him given him Cuticura. We finally procured a full set of the Cuticura Remedies, and in about three or four days he began to show a brighter spirit and really laughed, for the first time for years. In about ninety days he was fully recovered. Praise for the Cuticura Remedies has always been our greatest pleasure, and there is nothing too good that we could say in their favor, for they certainly saved our baby's life. For he was the most awful sight I ever beheld, prior to the treatment of the Cuticura Remedies. Mrs. Mabelle Lyon, 1235 Appleton Ave., Parsons, Kan., July 13, 1904.

—Mrs. Emmet Lang and children who have been here visiting at the home of Antoine Benume several weeks, left Thursday for their home at Elfeld, N. D. They were accompanied by Mrs. Lang's sister, Miss Ellen Jensen.

—About forty of the Royal Neighbors and their friends surprised Mrs. John Rothwell Tuesday and presented her with a beautiful set of decorated china teacups and saucers and dinner plates; also a beautiful Royal Neighbors pin. Refreshments were served. All report having a good time. I do not know whether they learned how old Mrs. Rothwell was or not but judging by the way she flew around and entertained the ladies, she appeared to be about sixteen. The event was in honor of Mrs. Rothwell's birthday.

My line of wall papers for 1906 is now ready for inspection. Prices low. Patterns artistic.
